History and Ecology of the Horicon Marsh

The History and Ecology of the Horicon Marsh: A Virtual Program

Monday, July 12 at 1 PM

The story of the Horicon Marsh is one of creation, destruction, and revival. Created by the glaciers yet scarred by humans, this important wetland has been restored by conservationists who had the foresight to think about the future of this wetland. Despite the degradation, Horicon Marsh was listed as a Ramsar Wetland of International Importance in 1990 and is one of the best of the best wetlands in the world. Though significantly changed, it is a true testament to the resiliency of nature when allowed to be preserved. Program presented by Liz Herzmann of the Wisconsin DNR.
